Do You Have Local Plans for Idul Fitri or Will You be Joining the Millions of Travelers for the Mudik ?

Days before (and during) Idul Fitri literally millions of Indonesians will take to the roads as they travel out of Jakarta back to their hometowns. The term Mudik is an Indonesian colloquial term for a global phenomenon in Muslim countries which reaches an extreme here in Jakarta. During the heaviest times of Mudik it can take up to eight hours just to reach Bandung or Bogor. Mudik is expected to being July 12-16th this Ramadan.

The good news for those staying in Jakarta is that the city empties out and traveling around town can be a breeze. We urge you to hang out and enjoy Jakarta!

During Idul Fitri most grocery stores and restaurants will be closed. Most domestic employees will take leave to return to their Kampung. There are less taxis on the road. Therefore, CLO encourages you to plan accordingly.

Roemah Djawa Trip

Saturday, July 11th

8:00 AM - 3:00 PM

You won't believe this place!

Roemah Djawa (House of Java) is a home and gallery beyond anything you can even imagine.

The owners, Pak Leks (a Javanese Prince) and Linda, of Remote Destinations would like to invite you to see their historical traditional Javanese "Joglo House". This house is amazing all by itself, but it also contains over 40 rooms filled with art work and culturally important items that have taken over two decades to collect and conserve. This rare and priceless collection consists of a great variety of Madurese beds, statues, batik, items for wall decoration, leather puppets, masks, handbags, Asmat sculptures, paintings and so much more.

Join CLO as we tour this amazing journey throughout Indonesia all located under one roof.

Travel Recommendation

Day Trip to Bandung

Submitted by Ambassador Robert Blake

If folks are looking for an interesting day or weekend trip, they should consider Bandung. Located about 140 kilometers south east of Jakarta at an altitude of 2,500 feet, Bandung is surrounded by volcanos. The city is probably most famous for the 1955 Asian-African Conference, also known as the Bandung Conference, that marked the beginning of the Non-Aligned Movement. I visited three places north of town that were quite interesting. The first is an art gallery owned by one of Indonesia's foremost artists Sunaryo. The gallery called Selasar Sunaryo (<http://www.selasarsunaryo.com>) is a beautiful art space with a nice coffee area. Sunaryo himself has had several installations in the US and his son lives in America. He is also building across the street Wot Batu that is going to be lovely rock garden that will open in about two months.

For lunch, the dynamic Bandung Mayor Ridwan Kamil recommended Dusun Bambu <http://www.dusunbambu.com/about> which is a very attractive restaurant in a larger leisure park. You must pay a modest 10,000 rupees to get in but the food is good and prices are reasonable (60-70,000 rupees for main courses).

From there you can head up to one of Indonesia's most accessible volcanos at Tangkuban Perahu. One can drive right up through a beautiful park (again a very modest entrance fee) to the rim. I also recommend taking a short 1 km walk down to a natural hot spring called Kawah Domas. The trail begins at the mosque on the rim (to your right about 500 meters from the crater). You are required to hire a guide for 300,000 rupees, which is annoying but it is fun to be able to get up close to the bubbling pots. From there you can hike out about a half kilometer of a mostly flat trail where your car can meet you so you don't have to make the steep trek back up. Bandung has many nice US and other brand hotels if you want to stay the night. Enjoy!

Indoor Safety during an Earthquake

If you are inside, stay inside. DO NOT run outside or to other rooms during shaking.

In most situations, you will reduce your chance of injury from falling objects and even building collapse if you immediately:

- DROP down onto your hands and knees before the earthquake knocks you down. This position protects you from falling but allows you to still move if necessary.
- COVER your head and neck (and your entire body if possible) under the shelter of a sturdy table or desk. If there is no shelter nearby, get down near an interior wall or next to low-lying furniture that won't fall on you, and cover your head and neck with your arms and hands.
- HOLD ON to your shelter (or to your head and neck) until the shaking stops. Be prepared to move with your shelter if the shaking shifts it around.

No to the Mosquito! Malaria Prevention

Malaria is a serious disease that is preventable and curable. Malarial parasites are transmitted to humans through a bite from the anopheles mosquito that is infected with the parasite. Following the infective bite, a period of time goes by before the first symptoms appear. This incubation period varies from 7 to 30 days and is dependent on the species of parasite the host is infected with. There are four known species of the malarial parasite.

In uncomplicated malaria, symptoms are similar to that of the common flu- fever, chills, sweats, headaches, nausea, vomiting, headaches, body aches and general malaise. Physical findings as assessed by a health professional can include an enlarged spleen and/or liver and mild jaundice (yellowing of the skin). Severe malaria occurs when infections are complicated by organ failure. This is a medical emergency that requires urgent and aggressive treatment. Some types of malarial parasites are associated with relapses that can occur for up to 5 years at irregular intervals. Diagnosis of malaria is through blood testing and obtaining history of exposure.

Malaria prophylaxis (applying measures to prevent a specific disease) is recommended for travelers to areas where malaria is endemic, which includes many areas in Indonesia. Infants, small children, pregnant women and individuals with a history of splenectomy should reconsider travelling to regions where the risk of transmission is high. This is because infection in these groups can be more severe (ie. risk of miscarriage and premature labor). Chemoprophylaxis includes administration of antimalarial drugs before, during and for a period of time after travel. Prevention includes application of insect precautions such as insect repellent (containing 30-50% DEET), mosquito nets and light colored clothing that covers exposed skin. Avoid being outside during dusk and dawn when the anopheles mosquito is most active, sleep in rooms with screens over windows and doors and use the air conditioner. There are many types of antimalarial drugs available which can be prescribed based on your health history and travel plans. Antimalarial drugs require administration prior to travel so allow sufficient time for protection. If you are not sure if your travel destination, whether inside or outside of Indonesia, is at risk for malaria, please contact a nurse at the health unit to discuss what precautions you require and which antimalarial drugs are most suitable for you.

CAUTION: No preventive measure is 100% effective. Immediate medical attention is necessary for fever or influenza-like symptoms within three months after travel in a malaria risk area.

Information about Malaria obtained from the Center for Disease Control and Prevention and from RN. Deborah Hambric.

Driver available

If you are new to Indonesia, or if your Bahasa Indonesia language skills are limited, then Primo Ginastio is the driver for you. He is extremely patient and his English language skills are superb partly because he lived in Australia for 8+ years where he perfected his English. Mr. Ginastio is available for part-time work, especially on the weekends. He currently works part-time during the week as an Eagle Taxi driver and is always willing to accommodate your travel needs. If you are looking for someone to drive you around with your vehicle, speaks English with you, and one you can pay by the hour, please contact Primo as 0813 822 32559. (7/9)

Wonderful driver available immediately.

Pak Subagio has over 28 years of experience working for US Embassy staff including eight years for our family during each of our three tours in Jakarta. He is an excellent driver and maintains our vehicle well. He takes special care to safeguard all occupants. Subagio is extremely reliable, trustworthy, and willing to take on any task or errand. He understands basic English, knows the city and its surroundings well, and is always willing to work over-time. He is familiar with JIS school procedures and has driven our three children to countless activities. If you are seeking a driver for your family, we highly recommend contacting Subagio at 081210274848. For additional information, please email harrisondf@state.gov. (7/2)

Part-time gardener

Umsari has worked as our part-time gardener two days per week at FOA for the past 2.5 years. He takes good care of the lawn, shrubs, and tropical plants in our yard keeping everything thriving. Due to our departure, he is looking for a new position. Please contact Umsari at 085810288845. (7/2)

EXCELLENT PEMBANTU AVAILABLE END OF JULY

Ibu Neneng will be available to clean, wash/iron clothes at the end of July 2015. She has been my housekeeper for almost three years. Prior to her I have gone through trials with others that just didn't work out well. Ibu Neneng has been the best by far. She is extremely reliable, diligent and trustworthy. She works full-time, Monday – Friday and does all my grocery shopping once a week. She does drop-off/pick-up of my dry cleaning; washes and irons my clothes. She speaks English very well. She prefers to be a live-out housekeeper. She has worked for US Embassy families for the last 15 years.

(continues to next column)

She has been trained by health unit to properly sanitize and prepare food. When asked on occasion, she will cook. Please call ibu Neneng directly at 082110366894. (7/2)

Absolutely the best Driver—Truly, THE BEST!

Pak Sumardi has been with us since we first arrived in Jakarta. He is smart, maneuvers traffic like champ and is 100% reliable. Pak Sumardi is one of the major keys to our family's healthy morale here in Jakarta. His English is good. He maintains our car perfectly, gets along very well with our other staff members. He's been a driver for over 20 years and knows Jakarta inside and out. He anticipates our needs and acts intuitively. He is happy to work! He is not lazy at all, in fact he is always willing to stay late and do what is needed. Pak Sumardi has been my "Mom taxi" while we both work fulltime. He attends my youngest son's soccer practices as his guardian. Pak S. plays soccer in our yard with our son just because he enjoys being busy and active. Pak Sumardi has a JIS and Embassy badge that allows him to enter the parking areas and run errands for us. We trust him as a driver and care taker, of sorts, for our kids. When my older kids stay out late he is happy to stay and ensure their safe return home. He has an excellent disposition and works hard to please his employer. Pak Sumardi prefers working in South Jakarta, FOA, Essence, Brawijaya areas, but will also consider Kemang. Available August 2 or possibly sooner. Please contact Lainie McKeating for more information lainiemckeating@gmail.com or feel free to contact Sumardi directly 081315754736 (7/2)

FLO Global Webinar: CA-AEFM Adjudicator Program - Part 2

Join the Family Liaison Office (FLO) and Adrienne Taylor, Bureau of Consular Affairs (CA), for the second webinar in the Consular Affairs - Appointment Eligible Family Member (CA-AEFM) Adjudicator program series. Adrienne will provide information on what CA-AEFMs should expect once they have received certification.

- Topics: Brief overview of the certification process, details on what happens after certification, including how CA-AEFMs are assigned to positions and receive training, and a Q&A session
- When: August 5, 2015 at 8:30 a.m. ET
- RSVP: FLOGlobalWebinars@state.gov
- Questions: Please send questions in advance to FLOGlobalWebinars@state.gov by noon on August 1, 2015.

In order to maximize your understanding of the program, we strongly recommend that you watch the first webinar. If you missed that session, you can request a copy of the link by emailing FLOGlobalWebinars@state.gov.

Participate by logging in as a "guest" at deptofstatehr.adobeconnect.com/ca-aefm/. Please use your name and post. Participants will need a computer with a high-speed Internet connection and speakers. Only the presenter will be able to speak; however, the chat function will allow you to post questions during the Q&A allotted time after Adrienne's presentation.

About the CA-AEFM Adjudicator Program

The program is open to AEFMs who are at least 21 years of age with either a Bachelor's degree or past Professional Adjudication Specialist (PAS) experience to fill entry-level Consular Adjudicator positions at overseas posts. The program is in a pilot phase and applications are currently being accepted.

For information on the program visit the CA-AEFM Adjudicator webpage.
Email AEFM-CA-Questions@state.gov with questions.

Is Your Go-Bag Ready? Be Prepared for an Emergency

Are you prepared for the unexpected? Every day there is a possibility of a sudden departure from an overseas post due to political unrest, natural disaster, a death in the family, divorce, a family member in crisis, or a medical emergency.

There are many ways to prepare for the unexpected and a good place to start is by reading FLO's Personal Preparedness Plan brochure online for tips on creating your own plan. FLO also provides a helpful checklist for preparing a Go-Bag and a 72 Hour Emergency Kit – items you can grab in an instant should the need arise. Visit FLO's Crisis Management Services webpage for more information.

Email questions to FLOAskSupportServices@state.gov.

Winner of June LE Staff of the Month

The Bi-Missions received two (2) nominations for June's Employee of the Month. It is with great pleasure that we announce the winner of June 2015 LE Staff of the Month:

Roganti Simanjuntak
(RSO/Guard)

For his sustained alertness and professionalism in responding to a very dangerous and potentially catastrophic event. As a result of his actions, Roganti prevented the fire from spreading and causing further damages, injuries or loss of life.

Please join us in congratulating the winner of June's LE Staff of the Month, who will receive $100 cash award.

Reminder:

Submission for Nomination of July 2015 LE Staff "Employee of the Month" Award
