AUN CORE VALUE

FOREWORD BY DR. SUMATE YAMNOON

It has been four years since I assumed the position of Chairman of the AUN Board of Trustees, and this is my last note for the AUN Annual Report as I will officially end my term in September 2011. Throughout these years, I have witnessed the remarkable growth of this network. The cooperation and capacity of members and the network have increasingly expanded and developed. AUN activities have doubled from an initial twenty into forty projects and they continue expanding. It is indeed heartening to see these positive developments and significant accomplishments.

From the past year, we see existing activities and cooperation moving further forward to realise their full capacity, and in addition a number of initiatives have been introduced. This annual report will present detailed accounts of the progress and achievements of our activities in the past year. Our work stretches from systems and mechanisms development, academic and cultural exchanges and the further promotion of intra-regional and inter-regional partnerships. It is clearly evident that the network has firmly planted its roots and has gradually flourished. I am certain that AUN will continue to rise to, and overcome, the challenges ahead with the strong support and unfailing commitment of our member universities and partner organisations.

Time flies and the years of my term have been rewarding. It is indeed a great privilege to have joined the AUN as Chairman, to work with our member universities and long-standing partners, and to witness the thriving progress of the network. Lastly, I would like to take this opportunity to express my sincere gratitude to our member universities, the AUN sub-networks, the AUN Secretariat, ASEAN Secretariat and all of our partner institutions for without their continuous and tenacious support, the success of AUN could not have been possible.

Dr. Sumate Yamnoon

Secretary-General of the Office of Higher Education Commission
Ministry of Education, Thailand and Chairman of the AUN Board of Trustees

INTRODUCTION BY ASSOC. PROF. DR. NANTANA GAJASENI

It has been another successful year in which we have witnessed the remarkable progress of AUN. As shown in this latest issue of our annual report, AUN has made an immense step forward to realise the goals of the network in promoting cooperation in higher education in the ASEAN region. Our network has continuously grown and expanded. This is visible in terms of the considerable increase in the number of programmes and activities. Various promising initiatives have materialised and taken a big leap towards their full-fledged stages. We have also seen this past year newly established cooperation with several institutions and agencies in an attempt to expand its endeavour to various specialised areas. This is with the aim to maximise the beneficial impact for stakeholders and, especially, the peoples of the ASEAN region. On the other hand, we also witnessed notable enhancement of existing programmes and activities. AUN, with its utmost efforts, has taken the existing endeavours into a whole new level, particularly in terms of higher education systems and mechanisms' development to ensure the greatest yields for present and future generations.

The AUN Secretariat has undergone numerous developments. It is continuously progressing in line with a proactive approach. A number of in-house researches and database developments have been proficiently undertaken with fruitful results. A revised long-term strategic plan has also been prepared to heighten the network capacity and deliverables and, together with the uniquely enhanced management practices, we are driven to efficiently deliver ever more visible outcomes of AUN activities.

The AUN Annual Report 2010–2011 presents you with detailed information and progress of AUN activities for the year July 2010 to June 2011 categorised into nine Key Result Areas (KRAs), extensively covering essential aspects of higher education development as following:

- (1) Academic Exchange
- (2) Cultural and Non-Academic Exchange
- (3) Training and Capacity Development
- (4) Collaborative Research
- (5) Systems and Mechanisms of Higher Education
- (6) Course and Programme Development
- (7) Policy Dialogue
- (8) Database and Knowledge Centre
- (9) AUN Thematic Network

AUN Quality Assurance (AUN-QA) and ASEAN Credit Transfer System (ACTS) are among the highlighted programmes included in this annual report; showing remarkable development in terms of implementation. Along with AUN's initiatives, the AUN University Social Responsibility and Sustainability (AUN-USR&S) has been successfully carried out with the workshop and international forum held in Thailand and Malaysia respectively. To take the field of intellectual property education forward, the AUN Intellectual Property (AUNIP) Network, is now entering its 2nd year in close collaboration with our European partners. The programme on collaborative research is now taking shape and this time the results are promising. Last but not least, the activities under AUN sub-networks are taking each of the specialised fields to a noticeable standing with growing positive impacts expected in the near future.

For more than a decade, AUN has been progressing on the path of a long journey. With the strong support and commitment from our member universities and partner institutions, AUN's will and determination remain strong. I am certain that together we will continue onward to our committed goals of building a strong foundation for ASEAN Community.

Assoc. Prof. Dr. Nantana Gajaseni
Executive Director of ASEAN University Network

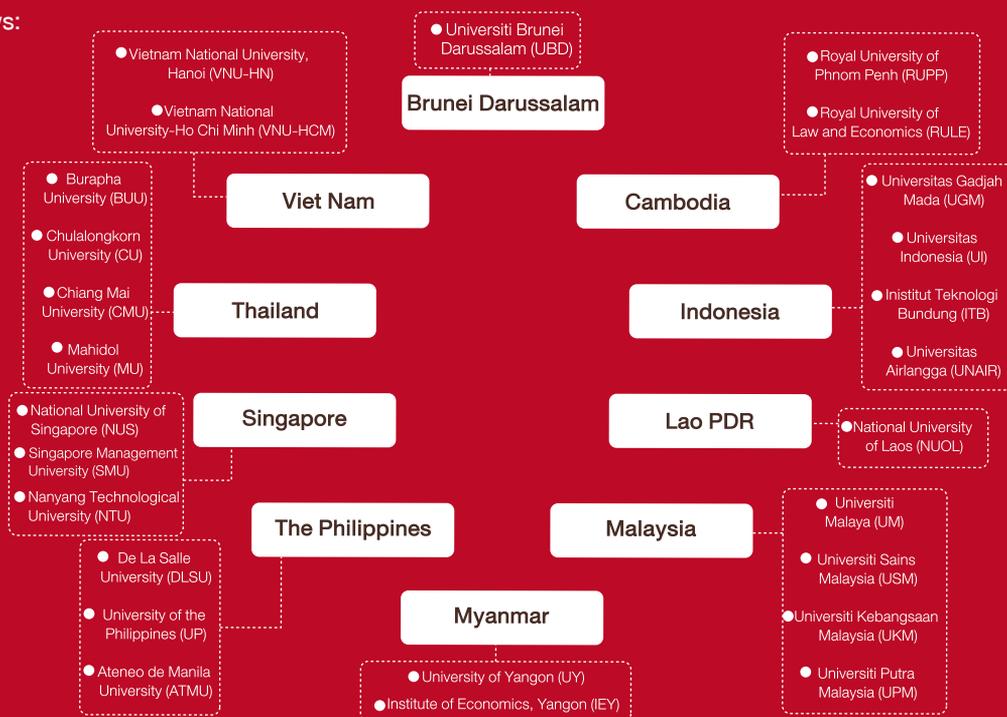

ASEAN UNIVERSITY NETWORK (AUN) IN BRIEF

During the 4th ASEAN Summit in 1992, ASEAN leaders called for the strengthening of the region through the promotion of human resource development and higher education. This aspiration has led to the signing of the Charter of the ASEAN University Network and thus the establishment of ASEAN University Network (AUN) in November 1995 with the AUN Secretariat as the main coordinating and monitoring agency established in Bangkok, Thailand. Since its establishment, AUN, the network of leading universities, has been serving as ASEAN's implementing agency in the field of higher education for the region's move towards ASEAN Community.

In terms of organisational structure, the structure can be categorised into 3 levels. Firstly, AUN Board of Trustees (AUN-BOT) serves as policy-making body comprised of:

- 10 university representatives, from each ASEAN Country, designated by the government of 10 ASEAN Countries
- The Secretary-General of ASEAN
- The Chairperson of AUN Board of Trustee (Secretary-General of the Office of the Higher Education Commission, Thailand)
- The Chairperson of Senior Official Meeting on Education (SOM-ED)
- Director of Southeast Asian Ministers of Education Organisation (SEAMEO)
- The Executive Director of the AUN Secretariat

At implementing level, AUN Member Universities participate and implement the programmes and activities under AUN. Currently, AUN membership has extended to 26 Member Universities as follows:

- Dr. Hang Chan Thon, Vice Rector for International Relations, Royal University of Phnom Penh
- Prof. Dr. Ir. Sudjarwadi, M. Eng. Rector, Gadjah Mada University
- Dr. Sumate Yamnoon, Chairman of the AUN Board of Trustees, and Secretary-General, Office of the Higher Education Commission, Ministry of Education, Thailand
- Assoc. Prof. Dr. Phetsamone Khounsavath, Vice-President, National University of Laos
- Prof. Dr. Hamzah Abd Rahman, Deputy Vice-Chancellor (Academic & International), University of Malaya
- Prof. Dr. Arnulfo P. Azcarraga, Associate Vice Chancellor for External Relations, De La Salle University
- Mr. Jonathan E. Malaya, Assistant Secretary of Education, Department of Education, Philippines
- Assoc. Prof. Dr. Nantana Gajaseni, AUN Executive Director, Office of the AUN Secretariat

The AUN Secretariat serves as coordinating and monitoring body. The main functions of the AUN Secretariat cover planning, organising, coordinating, monitoring and evaluating AUN programmes and activities. The AUN Secretariat's tasks also include developing ideas, innovations and proposal for cooperation under AUN as well as to develop plans and mechanisms for sourcing and generating funds for self-reliant and self-sustaining operation of AUN.

"The AUN's structure with its involvement in regional policy bodies"

AUN works closely with ASEAN Secretariat in reporting progress and proposing initiatives for further intra-regional and inter-regional cooperation in higher education.

Executive Summary

ASEAN University Network (AUN) is the key implementing agency of ASEAN in the field of higher education cooperation. Over a decade, AUN has committed to the mission of promoting higher education in ASEAN through a number of activities and cooperative framework in various fields. Entrusted with this mandate, AUN has set its strategies to ensure that all activities' deliverables are in line with the goals and aspiration of ASEAN. Based on the ASEAN Roadmap, AUN identifies the over-arching goals of its activities categorised into five areas including:

- (1) Science & Technology Collaborative Research for Community Well-Being
- (2) Quality Labour Force
- (3) ICT Development and Competency
- (4) Knowledge-Based Society
- (5) ASEAN Awareness

In implementing our programmes and activities, it is imperative to ensure that our endeavours are delivered to and effectively serve stakeholders in higher education. In the year 2010–2011, AUN's activities more comprehensively address and engage stakeholders in different levels. Students are one of the most important stakeholders in our programme implementation. The past year saw enhancement of various programmes which focus on the involvement and benefits of students. This can be seen through various exchanges, scholarships and cultural programmes. It is worth noting that, in our recent development, the youth and student programmes has included the participation of ASEAN students from non-AUN member universities and students from the Plus Three Countries namely China, Japan and the ROK. A number of programmes also aim at academic staff. This can be seen through academic-oriented and research-based forum which AUN closely cooperate with partners from dialogue countries such as Japan and the ROK. Furthermore, on the administration and policy levels, AUN has promoted dialogue among university policy-makers and administrators to enhance cooperation in various specialised areas. Among others, the development on AUN Quality Assurance (AUN-QA) is one of the highlighted areas in which the key personnel of quality department have actively engaged in the revision of QA documentations for furthering the effectiveness and promotion of standard and quality recognition in the region. The 1st ASEAN+3 Heads of International Relations Offices' (IROs) Meeting, held at Universiti Brunei Darussalam, was among AUN's initiatives that promote working platform among executives and administrators in charge of international cooperation. This meeting has successfully emerged as the forum for addressing academic mobility and this inaugural meeting has produced fruitful results of identifying obstacles as well as proposed solutions for the actual implementation of regional academic mobility. University representatives from the Plus Three Countries were actively involved and this would help bring the Southeast Asian and Northeast Asian regions closer and it could in turn facilitate future inter-regional cooperation and exchanges in the future.

AUN not only involves participants from the member universities, it also welcomes inclusive participations from non-AUN member universities in ASEAN. AUN mostly extends its reach to non-member universities through the activities under AUN Sub-Networks. The sub-networks conduct activities in specialised fields such as Engineering, Business and Economics, Intellectual Property, Inter-Library Cooperation and Human Rights.

Recently, AUN University Social Responsibility and Sustainability (AUN-USR&S) has been the latest initiative being developed into a sub-network. The 2nd AUN Forum on USR&S held at Universiti Kebangsaan Malaysia in May 2011, was a successful international forum which enjoyed high number of participations and attendance from both member universities and non-member universities. AUN also forge close partnership with universities and higher education institutions beyond ASEAN region. This includes partnership with Daejeon University, Kyoto University, Korean Association of Southeast Asian Studies (KASEAS) and, under AUN/SEED-Net, eleven leading Japanese universities under Japanese Supporting University Consortium (JSUC). The activities under the partner universities are varied ranging from student and fellowship exchange, scholarship, workshop and collaborative research. Notably, the recent initiative between AUN and Kyoto University has led to the promising 4-year cooperative framework featuring activities on the topic of Human Security Development.

The cooperation under AUN has not only been among the universities. The network has also established cooperation with various international partner agencies. Cooperation with European partners have long been established for activities under AUN Intellectual Property (AUNIP) Network which saw major development in the attempt to formulate university IP policy template in November 2010. To highlight the expanded cooperation landscape during the past year, AUN with close collaboration with European University Association (EUA) has conducted a three-year project on Cooperation on Doctoral Education between Africa, Asia, Latin America and Europe (CODOC). This is the initiative to map out the current status of Doctoral programmes worldwide and to eventually found an international strategic cooperation on Doctoral education.

In terms of improvement during the past twelve months, AUN has undergone significant development. The Key Result Areas (KRAs), set up by the AUN Secretariat, has been enhanced and expanded from six into nine areas to comprehensively cover fundamental areas of higher education development. Each of AUN activity is aligned with at least one KRA to ensure that the activity is effectively functioning in accordance with the mission of the network. During the past year, AUN was successful in accomplishing all of the KRAs with the remarkable progress in KRA 5 (System and Mechanisms of Higher Education) as it can be seen in the advancement of AUN Quality Assurance (AUN-QA) and the big step forward in the implementation of ASEAN Credit Transfer System (ACTS). Furthermore, the launch of in-house research projects has been a significant addition to the KRA 8 (Database and Knowledge Centre) and the AUN website will gradually expand its functionality into an information hub in the near future. Among the improvements, AUN has brought in research-based approach and a mixture of workshop techniques in an attempt to help translate the ideas into the effective deliverables which maximise benefits and long-term impacts for stakeholders.

AUN Member Universities have long been instrumental in the visible success of the network. The achievements of programmes and activities of the past year have been the results of the members' constructive participation and immense contribution. Among the unique qualities exhibited by AUN Member Universities are the spirit of ASEAN-ness which incorporates equal partnership and regional belonging and identity. These qualities are also infused in our unique practice of cost-sharing basis that in turn reinforce the sense of ownership which could be seen in a number of AUN initiatives. With the shared values and the commitment of promoting regional higher education cooperation, the member universities are essentially at the heart of our success.

For the next year, AUN is determined to set off for an ever challenging path towards greater development of regional higher education. Activities focusing on youth and leadership including AUN Educational Forum and Young Speakers Contest as well as ASEAN Youth Cultural Forum will extend their reach both within and beyond the ASEAN region. A number of enhanced techniques and methodology will be put in place to ensure concrete outputs and greater impacts for the youth programmes. Existing efforts to push forward higher education innovation will be vigorously carried on with an additional pace and the network is expecting to initiate new cooperative frameworks in many fields including medical science. The expansion of our programmes and activities are also set in motion to reaching wider beneficiaries including non-core member universities through the works of AUN Thematic Networks. AUN will continuously move forward. The possibilities will be further explored, and potential will be further cultivated. With our commitment, we will continue to deliver.

Ms. Khanittha Tantiphithakkun (Joy) awarded a China AUN scholarship from 2008 to 2010 for a Master Programme in International Trade at the University of Business and Economics (UIBE)

First, I would like to thank you AUN and the China Scholarship Council for granting the scholarship to ASEAN students. I was one of the 20 students who successfully applied for the China-AUN Scholarship 2008 and fortunately got this great opportunity to explore China in depth both in terms of academic and cultural aspects. Studying in China was impressive and full of unexpected experiences; something I will never forget.

I took a two year Master Programme in International Trade at the University of Business and Economics (UIBE), Beijing. UIBE is one of China's leading universities for the study of international trade and economics. The course has enabled me to understand more about the overview of China's economic development and international trade practice and rules. With over 2,700 foreign students from over 106 countries, UIBE is capable of providing students with an international environment. I have learned to get along with my foreign classmates- most of them are Asian, such as Korean, Indonesian, and Vietnamese. The class also included students from other regions including Algeria and Costa Rica. Though we were from different parts of the world, speaking different languages, we used Mandarin to communicate with each other and Chinese culture has linked us together. Apart from studying, I also discovered China by travelling. With a perfect transportation system, it was very convenient to travel around China. In Beijing, the subway connected all important places. A flat fare of 2 RMB (0.3 USD) with unlimited transfers applied to all lines except the Airport Express, which makes the subway the main transportation for both locals and tourists. I also had a chance to visit other places, such as Xi'an, Luoyang, Inner Mongolia and Qingdao. China is considered the factory of the world. You can find anything here. However, contrary to common belief, not everything was cheap. One thing I kept in mind when I bought anything was do bargain! Finally, Chinese food is one of the reasons why studying in China is such a great experience! I gained four kilos in the first two months in Beijing. Also, there was plenty of international food here. I was staying in Chaoyang district, where most of the foreigners are Korean. So, it is easy to find a fine Korean restaurant with reasonable prices.

Though there were small inconveniences during my stay, I thought it was nothing compared to the great time I had and all that I learned inside and outside of the classroom. China is an amazing country with wonderful people and culture. It is the place I suggest you all to discover for yourself.

12th AUN EDUCATIONAL FORUM AND YOUNG SPEAKERS CONTEST

IN BRIEF

The AUN Educational Forum and Young Speakers Contest is an annual event to be organised in rotation within the AUN Member Universities. The activity is in line with the AUN's major objective to promote "ASEANness" through cooperation among students and scholars in a way that encourages familiarity and friendship both among themselves and with the ASEAN community. The event is organised as a two-week work camp in which two students and one faculty member from each AUN Member University will participate in both academic and cultural activities. These are: (1) Educational forum, (2) Speakers contest, (3) Special lecturers, (4) Discussion and workshop on ASEAN issues, (5) Educational trip, (6) Cultural Programme.

Subsequently, the forum will be concluded with a Joint Statement on ASEAN Youth – recommendations in various subjects from the youth to their leaders, to be tabled at the related ASEAN meetings through the ASEAN Secretariat.

The 12th Forum was held on 2-8 May 2011 at Mahidol University, Thailand. It was the first time the forum engaged with participants from the Plus Three countries (China, Japan, Korea). During the Programme, 56 participants from 7 ASEAN countries, (except Brunei, Cambodia, and Myanmar) and the Plus Three countries were given a chance to present their papers and deliver their speeches on the theme “Strengthening ASEAN+3 Higher Education through Community Engagement”.

9th ASEAN YOUTH CULTURAL FORUM

IN BRIEF

To promote ASEAN culture as a way of fostering regional solidarity and identity – as emphasised by the ASEAN Vision 2020 – the ASEAN Youth Cultural Forum has become the AUN's annual activity dedicated to young people who are talented in dance, music and song. The activity aims to bring together cultures and traditions from the ASEAN countries for participants to share. In addition, the forum is designed to present a unique opportunity for ASEAN to reflect our deepest values of cultures and traditions. ASEAN countries share a lot of similarities in natural conditions, geography, and cultures as well as traditions. Hence, while all ASEAN countries can be proud of their own distinctive ways of life, this forum also helps enhancement and strengthening of the mutual understanding of cultural diversity and similarity, friendship and co-operation among ASEAN Member States. Each AUN Member University sends five students and one lecturer to participate in this gathering. The six-day forum is composed of four main activities:

- (1) Lectures on music, song and dance: The participants will be given lectures on the evolution of songs, dances and music in Southeast Asia, in order for them to gain the basic idea of Southeast Asia performing arts.

DELIVERABLES

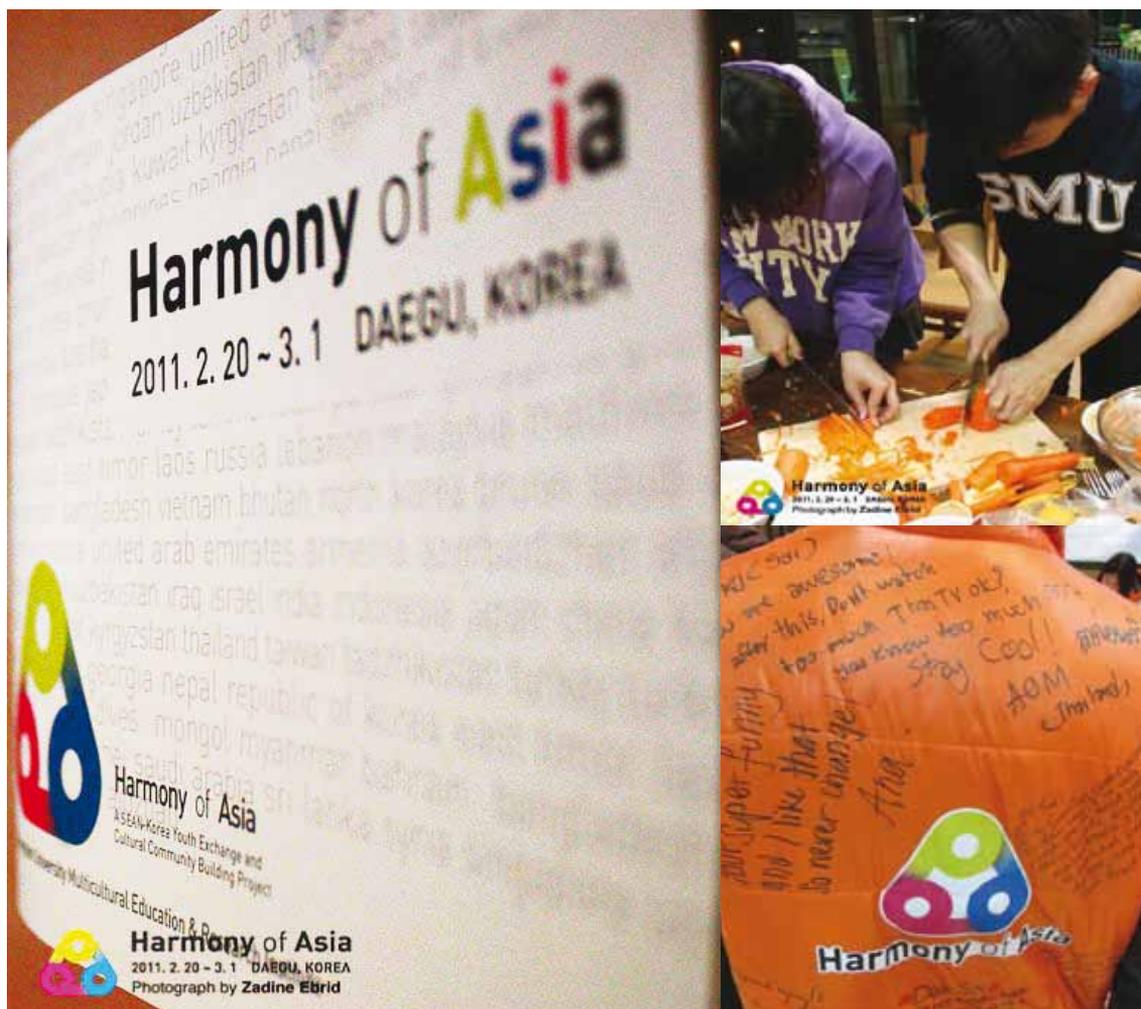

At the forum, the national traditions and mutual understanding on the similarities and differences of ASEAN's arts and cultures had been shared and exchanged among 74 students and 14 university staff from 15 AUN Member Universities in eight countries namely Brunei, Indonesia, Lao PDR, Malaysia, Philippines, Singapore, Thailand and Viet Nam. The students not only had an opportunity to showcase their national performances; but they also paired with universities from other countries to create a fusion performance. Extracted from the Ramayana epic, the finale performance "ASEAN Rainbow" was presented by all participants at the Gala Night leaving the forum on a high. It was a remarkable success that opens a new chapter of ASEAN history in one unified performance.

- (2) Consolidating workshop: The workshop on the collaborative work of ASEAN performing arts. One or two ASEAN pieces of performing arts from the participants are expected to be presented.
- (3) Cultural performances: Each group of student representatives is requested to produce their own cultural performances. These performances may range from singing and dancing to some form of contemporary performing arts.
- (4) Cultural trip: The trip will offer the participants a great chance to explore the host country's culture and traditions.
- (5) Gala night: Resulting from the six day activities, all participants will together present a finale performance at the closing ceremony.

The 9th ASEAN Youth Cultural Forum was kindly hosted by Universitas Gadjah Mada on 23–28 May 2011 at Yogyakarta, Indonesia under the theme "Arts, Identity, and Unity".

In 2012, the 10th ASEAN Youth Cultural Forum is expected to be held in Bandar Seri Begawan, hosted by Universiti Brunei Darussalam.

1st SENIOR OFFICIAL MEETING ON ASEAN-KOREA CYBER UNIVERSITY ESTABLISHMENT

IN BRIEF

The idea of establishing an ASEAN-Korea Cyber University was initiated by Dr. Surin Pitsuwan, Secretary General of ASEAN, at the 20th Anniversary of ASEAN-the Republic of Korea (ROK) in June 2009 with the aims to promote education cooperation and people-to-people exchange, to bridge the development gap among ASEAN Member States and to support ASEAN's efforts for regional integration. This suggestion was later developed into a proposal on "Strengthening CLMV Capacity for ASEAN-Korea Cyber University", initiated by the Korean government in consultation with the ASEAN Secretariat and the AUN Secretariat.

DELIVERABLES

The meeting was attended by senior officials of the Ministry of Education from ROK and CLMV countries, the ASEAN Secretariat, the AUN Secretariat, and the representatives of 11 AUN Member Universities from Brunei Darussalam, Indonesia, Malaysia, and Thailand.

The SOM took note of the drafted master plan for an establishment of ASEAN-Korea Cyber University and agreed in principle to the three phase roadmap for CLMV:

- CLMV capacity enhancement: Pilot operation for e-learning centers in CLMV countries (March 2011-June 2012);
- Establishment of ASEAN-ROK Cyber University: Establishing ASEAN e-learning portal and Korea-CLMV Curriculum Management (July 2012 – December 2014);
- Expansion of ASEAN-ROK Cyber University: Emergence as a hub university in Korea and ASEAN through e-learning and research collaboration (January 2015).

Pertaining to the drafted master plan, the AUN Secretariat in consultation with the ASEAN Secretariat, have examined the draft taking into account the merits and impediments of the plan. After a thorough review of the draft, the AUN Secretariat proposed some comments and suggestions to MEST at the end of February 2011 to be used as a substantive information for the final master plan. In addition, the AUN Secretariat also conducted an information gathering exercise and a regular monitor and analysis of ICT policy and e-learning status of the ASEAN Member States so as to prepare for the inaugural phase of the CLMV project, and to provide accessibility for future ICT networks within the region and beyond.

To serve ROK proposal in strengthening CLMV capacity as a major preparatory step towards the ASEAN-Korea Cyber University, the Ministry of Education, Science and Technology (MEST), ROK had inaugurated the first senior officials meeting on ASEAN-Korea Cyber University Establishment, held on 17-21 January 2011 in ROK.

UBD biz faculty looks toward Asean

DEBBIE TOO
BANDAR SERI BEGAWAN

Thursday, February 10, 2011

THE Faculty of Business, Economics and Policy Studies (FBEPS) at Universiti Brunei Darussalam (UBD) are working together with the Asean Graduate Business and Economics Programme (AGBEP) Network to help solidify and grow the network of universities in Asean to ensure local students get as much learning experience from the Asean region as what they get from Western Countries.

"Definitely one of the reasons that we are here today is to talk about the faculty and student exchange," said Dr Brian Gozun, chairperson of the AGBEP Secretariat.

He explained that with their faculty exchange, they have a lot of faculty members from Western countries, but that they hope to work within their Asean network.

"Once we exchange the faculty, we want the students to also be able to go around. In the Philippines, for example, we have students who prefer to go to the United States or the United Kingdom to do their exchange, but right now we are really promoting Asean," said Dr Gozun, adding that this would include countries like Vietnam, Laos, and Cambodia.

It would work well for UBD as one of their aims is to draw additional international students, he said.

Dr Hazri Hj Kifle, Dean of the Faculty of Business, Economics and Policy Studies (FBEPS) at Universiti Brunei Darussalam (L) and Dr Brian Gozun, chairperson of the Asean Graduate Business and Economics Programme (AGBEP).

The meeting also acknowledged the AUN membership enlargement on the admission of four new universities to the AUN core Member Universities in which subsequently led to the legitimated status of AGBEP network members. The four new network members are: Universitas Airlangga, Universiti Putra Malaysia, Singapore Management University and Chiang Mai University. Other non-AUN members are also welcomed to participate in AUN activities under its specialised sub-network such as AGBEP Network.
