Rice is commonly found during meals in most Filipino homes. In fact it is so common that people often overlook its uniqueness and history.

Did you know that:

- It takes about 5,000 liters of water to produce one kilo of rice.
- Rice dominates not just the cultural but also the political landscape of the Philippines.
- Rice accounts for 41% of total caloric intake and 31% of total protein intake of all Filipinos.
- On average, it takes about 105 days to harvest rice.

Visit the Philippine Rice Science Museum and celebrate the dynamic past, presents and future of rice in the country.

Each exhibit in our collection tells a captivating story of how rice became the food and how science continues to make it better for the Filipinos.
